KEEN INTEREST IS DISPLAYED IN BY-ELECTIONS

Five Acclamations Are Expected in Ontario Tomorrow, Nomination Day

CONTESTS ASSURED IN FOUR OTHER RIDINGS

TORONTO, Oct. 16.—Something like a miniature general election is in prospect for Ontario, with nine provincial by-elections to be decided in the near future. Nominations are set for Saturday next and polling for October 27.

But acclamations are expected on Saturday in four and possibly five of the ridings, with three straight party fights assured and one Conservative-Labor tussle likely.

Five of the contests are necessitated by the introduction of newcomers to the ministry of Premier G. Howard Ferguson in the recent Cabinet reorganization. Four of these are expected to be returned by acclamation.

IN BRANTFORD

In Brantford, Hon. W. G. Martin, newly-appointed Minister of Public Welfare, will probably find himself opposed by a Labor candidate, as yet not selected.

The other four ministers and their ridings are: Algoma—Hon. Dr. J. M. Robb, Minister of Public Health.

Peel—Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture.

York South—Hon. Leopold Mac-Aulay, Provincial Secretary.

Renfrew North—Hon. E. A. Dunlop, Provincial Treasurer.

All the ministers are running for the seats they won in the provincial general elections of October 30, 1928.

FIFTH ACCLAMATION

A fifth acclamation is possible in Lanark South, where Edward Steadman, of Perth, Conservative, is the only candidate in the field.

Lanark South was rendered vacant by the death of Dr. J. A. M. Anderson, Conservative.

A fifth acclamation is possible in Lanark South, where Edward Steadman, of Perth, Conservative, is the only candidate in the field.

Like Nipissing, the riding of Waterloo South was vacated by the resignation of the sitting member to enter the Federal arena, in this case, Karl Homuth, Conservative.

In your own container, member, J. L. Connell, newspaper man, is the Conservative candidate in the present contest, opposing Norman G. Higel, Liberal.

IN PERTH SOUTH
Charles Richardson, Conservative, is opposing George S. Keith, Liberal, in the ninth of the by-elections, in Perth South, rendered vacant by the death of David Bonis, Conservative.

The results will have very little effect on the relative party standing in the Provincial Legislature.

W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., Ontario Liberal leader, has been waging a vigorous fight throughout the contested ridings.

THE WIND CHANGED
Fortunately the wind had changed and was blowing the flames away from the boat, instead of shrouding it, as before.

Success once more seemed imminent, when to everybody's horror, another rope snapped and the boat capered off.

On the instant, a deckhand jumped, and engaged and finally eventually boarded the bobbing little craft.

Meanwhile, the Daring was making circles. A thousand feet of wire rope joined her to the scow. The captain crossed her bows in the lifeboat, flung his line and missed.

He lunged at the tug's gunwale, which was wet and slippery, and lost out, again. A few seconds later his boat splashed past the Daring's stern, only to become hopelessly fouled by the low rope.

The captain worked desperately with an oar to pry her free, but the rope was fast, and cut into the gunwale as the lifeboat slid under it, toward the scow.

So the captain plunged again and fought his way out from fresh peril. It was almost pitch-black now, and his chances were slim.

A sound of splintering wood, presently told him that the lifeboat was now kindling under the head scow. He shouted and waved frantically and swam in circles.

Meanwhile, the men on the Daring were making Spartan efforts to launch the standard boat in vain hope of saving their skipper.

Will Receive Degree From University

JOHN B. MUNRO, B.S.A.

Dr. J. B. Munro, B.S.A., will be awarded his degree in Agriculture from the University of British Columbia at the fall convocation on October 27. He was graduated from Ontario Agricultural College in 1928 and two years later commenced his studies at the University of British Columbia.

He conducted his research work under the direction of Dr. G. G. Mac and Dr. D. G. Laird, of the department of agriculture at the university.

conquered in a stubborn duel with the waves.

A chance flash from the burning tug lit up the captain's raised hand, which enable the gallant fellow in the lifeboat to negotiate an in-the-nick-of-time rescue.

The attempt to get a line aboard the Daring, this time, succeeded. Her speed had eased, a little, and it became possible to operate the winches and haul up the scows.

The crew now scrambled to safety, chopped the cable, and with thankful hearts watched the Daring rock off into the night, like a mad, half-drowning mackerel.

HEADED FOR SCOW
Safe at last—and glory! But not the Daring was making another blinding circle. The scow lay right on her circumference. On, on, she plunged, roaring, hissing, belching. Catastrophe again seemed imminent. There was one chance—the boat.

On fumed the Daring. Nearer, nearer. The scow seemed doomed. A hundred yards! Fifty! Twenty-five! Ten feet! CRASH?

THREE ARE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Three persons were injured in automobile accidents here last night, for which the slippery condition of the streets, due to the heavy rainfall, is believed responsible. The injured: Mrs. Helen Peters, St. Helen's Apartments, cuts to head and shock.

Mrs. J. H. Butterworth, 118 North Park Street, slight injuries to left arm.

Mr. Thomas McPhail, 2643 Forbes Street, severely cut forehead.

Mrs. Peters and McPhail were taken to the Jubilee Hospital in the police ambulance, and Mrs. Butterworth was taken to her home.

Mrs. Peters was struck by a car at the intersection of Pandora Avenue and Quadra Street at 6:05 o'clock last night, according to police reports. The automobile involved was driven north on Quadra Street by Harry Upward, Vancouver.

Mrs. Butterworth was crossing from the east to the west side of Douglas Street at 6:55 o'clock last night when she was struck by a car proceeding north on Douglas Street.

Passerby took the injured woman into MacFarlane's Drug Store, at the corner of Johnson and Douglas Streets, and she was later conveyed to her home in the police ambulance. She complained of injuries to her left arm. The driver of the car had left the scene on the arrival of the patrol.

Thomas MacPhail, 2643 Forbes Street, suffered a severe gash in his head when he was knocked down by a car at the intersection of Herald and Douglas Streets, at 11:45 o'clock last night. Constable Ireland and Driver Acreman attended with the police ambulance and took the injured man to the police station.

Dr. G. C. Kenning was called and ordered MacPhail's removal to the Jubilee Hospital, Ernest Silburn, 3200 Douglas Street, was proceeding north on Douglas Street when his car hit MacPhail.

JUBILEE DIRECTORS REPORT BUSY MONTH

In order that members might attend the Dr. Pillsbury lecture in aid of the Jubilee Women's Auxiliary funds, the hospital board of directors held the usual meeting last evening instead of tonight.

The business was chiefly of a routine nature. Reports received showed that the total number of days' treatment during September was 6,373; daily average of patients, 212; patients admitted during the month, 338; discharged, 284; gross cost per day, $3.92.

At the end of September there were forty-one more patients in the hospital than at the beginning of the month. Since the beginning of October the number of patients has still further increased, so that, it was pointed out, almost all the beds in the hospital were now occupied.

During September the register recorded twenty-eight births and thirteen deaths.

The renovation of the nurses' dining room, about a week ago, has secured much-needed additional room through a change in the location of the kitchen.

The hospital board also recorded their appreciation of a cheque for $120 received from the Junior Women's Auxiliary, and in this connection a resolution of congratulation was passed to the young organization for the very successful way in which they had carried through their recent fashion show at the Empress Hotel.

The postponed demonstration of the Aero Automatic Fire Alarm System at the Canadian National Dock in the inner harbor will be carried out at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

MELBOURNE, Oct. 16.—Four millers of Victoria are facing a difficult problem in getting cargo space for flour shipments to Egypt and Europe. If there is no relief in the present situation, it is likely they will charter their own ships.

General rationing of cargo space is in full swing, with a shortage for cereals and flour. The reason for lack of space for these cargoes is that vessel owners are receiving plenty of cargoes paying a higher rate.

NOTED NATURALIST TO SPEAK TONIGHT ON FLOWER GROWTH

Tonight at the Shrine Temple Hall, Dr. A. C. Pillsbury, one of the noted naturalists of the day, especially famous for the magnificent collection of moving pictures which he has assembled to illustrate various phenomena in nature, will give his lecture on "The Growth of Flowers and Deep-Sea Life." The "silver screen" has probably never told a more fascinating story, nor one of more unusual interest, as Dr. Pillsbury filmed many of the scenes beneath the sea, donning divers' dress in order to do so.

The lecture is being given under the auspices and in aid of the Women's Auxiliary of the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital, which devotes the funds to the purchase of linen, special furnishings which add to the comfort of the patients.

At the close of Dr. Pillsbury's talk, Miss Mackenzie, chaperone of Government House, will present the cup of the Canadian Horticultural Society and the medals of the Vancouver Island Horticultural Association to the winners of the island garden competition, held during the summer months.

W. H. M. Haldane, representing the board, suggested that the appeal might get before the Court of Appeal at the present sitting. If it cannot be done the matter will be delayed for some little time.

CALL TENDERS ON HAGUEGATE BRIDGE SCHEME

Bids Are Invited by Province on Spanning Bulkley River

TENDERS RETURNABLE HERE ON NOVEMBER 3

Tenders for construction of the Haguegate suspension bridge, the largest undertaking of its kind in the province, are being called by the Provincial Department of Public Works, returnable at noon on November 3. Plans, specifications and forms of tender may be seen at the Courthouse, Vancouver, or obtained through the department here.

The new bridge, the approaches and anchors for which are already in place, is to take the place of the suspension bridge erected at the site in pre-war years, which in turn replaced an Indian bridge at the site. The span over Bulkley River is some 460 feet in length. It is understood, making construction of the proposed bridge a major undertaking.

Contractors submitting bids on the project must deposit an accepted cheque for $5,000 as the usual guarantee for due performance of contract.

SUBMARINE WAS WORST MENACE

Commander Spicer-Simson Graphically Describes Warfare on the Seas

BRITAIN'S LOSSES HEAVY

The horrors of submarine warfare; the losses for which it was responsible, and how Great Britain finally checked the worst of all menaces during the world war, was ably described at the Shrine Hall, View Street, last night, by Commander Spicer-Simson, D.S.O., in an address on submarine warfare, given under the auspices of the National Council of Education.

The speaker dealt with what he termed the first successful use of submarines. This was during the American Civil War when a Confederate submarine destroyed a Federal frigate, but in so doing met its own doom.

Submarines were first used effectively during the early days of the Great War when the prevention of the attack was almost impossible, and the detection of the submarine difficult. The partial success of the submarine as employed by the Germans was shown by the fact that towards the end of 1917 there was not enough food in Great Britain and France to feed the troops and the families.

However, the discovery of the hydrophone, an instrument used to detect the position of submarines, and the depth charges used for their destruction, made it possible for Great Britain to overcome submarine warfare, continued the speaker.

BRITAIN'S LOSSES

Britain's shipping losses during the Great War were over 7,000,000 tons, or 31 3/4 per cent of the total loss. The speaker told his audience that 11,000 British seamen paid the supreme sacrifice, which was 60 1/2 per cent of the total number of sailors lost during hostilities.

Many interesting lantern slides were shown depicting mines, mine sweepers, torpedoes, destroyers, the many different types of submarines, ships being torpedoed, the conveyance of the First Canadian Contingent to England's shores, and other pictures dealing with submarines and their mechanism. The mystery ships introduced in the latter days of the war were also shown, while the speaker paid a compliment to the navy for the way in which they rallied and for the degree of efficiency they attained. They were fishermen, and not naval men of many years' experience, and the speaker said that they soon became expert gunners.

Of the different systems used to combat submarine warfare, Commander Spicer-Simson stated that the depth charges proved the most successful. Of the 275 enemy submarines destroyed, eighty-seven met disaster by this means.

Denman, manager of the logging department of the Crown-Williamette Paper Company, of Portland, with jurisdiction over the company's United States and Canadian interests.

Assault Is Charged

Charles Bland, charged with having assaulted Robert Cater, a disabled soldier living on the Old Saanich Road, was before Magistrate Jay in the Saanich police court yesterday. Bland denied the charges and entered a counter charge that the assault was first made by Cater. The trouble arose over some old pipes which were on the property of Bland following a fire. The evidence was heard, after which the case was remanded until Thursday for judgment.

Boyd said today the return trip probably would be started in the first spell of good weather after November 1.

INTERNATIONAL PEACE
GARDEN TO BE BUILTGardeners of Canada and United States Launch $500,000 Project
at National FairWASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Gardeners of Canada and the United States are here tonight,
started a $500,000 international peace garden project.Conceived a year ago, the plan was said to have crystallized here to a point where its legal difficulties
had been smoothed out and its financial success assured.Ontario and New York State, perhaps in the vicinity of Buffalo, are considered likely to provide the location, though no definite site has been selected.McDonald J. Crichton, of Convent, N.J., president-elect of the National Association of Gardeners, sponsoring the peace garden as part of its national convention now in session here, announced an opencompetition for landscape gardeners to plot the borderline flowerand-shrubbery symbol of the century-long amity between the two nations.Their blue prints, he explained,
would have to encompass more than 1,000 acres—half on Canadian soil, half on United States soil. Arbors and terraces, beds and borders would have to be conceived to include traditional flowers of each state in the union and each province in the Dominion. For the more tropical blooms of the South and Southwest, he explained, conserva-
tories would have to be planned.HAMILTON POLICE STOP BIG PARADEHAMILTON, Oct. 16.—Following several clashes between city police and a parade of about 2,000 unemployed in the uptown streets today,
William Patterson, who, it is alleged,
led the hunger march from Manchester to London, England, some time ago, was arrested and will be charged with inciting to riot.Patterson was alleged to be the leading spirit in today's demonstration. He delivered a fiery address at the Haymarket before the parade started. Warned not to proceed along James Street, the marchers defied this order and were driven back by police.

OBSERVES OFFICE HOURS

The Prince of Wales has been observing office hours strictly at his estate office in London just behind

extended conferences with those responsible for his estates. They make reports and he makes suggestions. After dinner he usually attends one of the neighboring
theatres.GERMAN TRADE GROWS IN SPITE
OF DEPRESSIONDevelopment of Exports Is Hope in Present Financial CrisisGOVERNMENT STARTS
FIGHT FOR PRICE CUTSBy OTTO BROCK
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)BERLIN, Oct. 16.—The bright spot in Germany's economic situation is the development of her exports,
which demonstrate an astonishing
power of resistance against the depressive influences of the world crisis. The German balance of trade shows an excess of exports over imports of $63,000,000, as compared with $42,000,000 in August.
From January on the German export surplus amounts to $260,000,000,
compared with an import surplus of $32,000,000 for the first nine months of last year.Undoubtedly Germany's hope in the immediate future lies in her export trade. Only by increased exports can the unemployment situation and therefore the interior market be materially improved.

WAGE CUT OPPOSED

According to the Government's programme this must be effected by a cut in wages as well as in prices. So far, however, the trade unions do not yield to this standpoint, as the strike of 126,000 Berlin metal workers indicates.The writer is informed that the Government intends to fight for this standpoint, and at least force a 4 or 5 per cent wage cut all over the Reich. The compensation is supposed to consist of adequate price cuts, and in order to demonstrate to the laborers that it intends to attack the price problem without delay the Government has just announced that it will take immediate steps to force a reduction in coal
prices, forming an important item
in the laborers' budget.

FRESH FACTOR CROPS UP IN RELIEF SCHEME

Saanich Council Considers Telegram Concerning Expenditure on Materials

COUNCILLORS DESIRE FURTHER INFORMATION

Exactly what constituted expenditure on "materials" in the Unemployment Relief Act was discussed at some length by the Saanich Council last night, following the reading of a telegram received yesterday from Patrick Philip, deputy minister of public works.

The telegram stated that the Government contribution to unemployment relief was for payment of wages, and only applicable to the purchase of materials which were not an integral part of the relief work. Power and water and major bridge construction were not subject to the contribution.

Councillor Crowhurst drew the attention of the council to the clause in the act which stated that the grant was made to municipalities for any public works they might take for relieving unemployment and maintaining expenditure in connection with unemployment and "generally in any way which will assist in providing useful and suitable work for the unemployed."

It was pointed out that no time should be lost in securing further information from the Provincial Government, which has undertaken to pay 25 per cent of the $30,000 allotted to Saanich, and the matter was laid on the table, pending the securing of such information.

It was pointed out that gravel for the building of roads could be obtained within the municipality, and that the material cost in Saanich would be largely confined to transporting the gravel to the scenes of operation.

COUNCIL RIDICULES CRITICISM ON MOUNT DOUGLAS PARK ROAD

Some caustic comments were made at last night's meeting of the Saanich Council relative to adverse criticisms on the building of a road through Mount Douglas Park.

Councillor Crowhurst asked acting-reeve Oldfield if he was aware of any reasonable objection to continuing the work. So far from this being the case, said Mr. Oldfield, he was satisfied that no objection would have been advanced if the matter had been given proper consideration.

It was pointed out that a statement had been made that the road was thirty acres of the involved, whereas there was not more than one acre, which contained only one tree that was worth keeping. Upon a motion of Councillor Eden it was unanimously decided that the beaches and parks committee should report to the council the result of its interview with the Attorney-General.

CHRISTINA ROSSETTI SUBJECT OF LECTURE

Dr. G. G. Sedgewick Gives Interesting Study of Life of Noted English Poet

Dr. G. G. Sedgewick, head of the English department of the University of British Columbia, gave the first of a series of extension lectures in the auditorium of the Girls' Central School last night. He chose as his subject "Christina Rossetti," English poet and sister of Dante Gabriel Rossetti, noted as one of the most romantic and renaissance poets of modern English literature, but to whom the lecturer gave little heed in his references to the religiously-inclined Christina.

Dr. Sedgewick's lecture was intensely interesting considering the scope of his venture, the life and work of the poet and the underlying moods that inspired Christina in her literature. The lecturer mentioned the early life of the poet and the religious influences of that age, the Oxford movement and the fact that she became a religious devotee. He read a number of her poems which, he inferred, were for the most part simple and straightforward prose, unlike her colorful and romantic brother's efforts, although in their simplicity they were deeper. Rossetti, besides her book of poems, which contain many fine pieces, also wrote a number of religious works on the Benedictine, the minor festivals, etc.

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Only an internal medicine can remove the cause. That's why external remedies and cutting fail. Dr. Leonard's HEM-ROID, succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Dr. Leonard's prescription has such a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief even in chronic and stubborn cases, that MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores say "HEM-ROID" at my expense. Your pile suffering must end or money back.

TWO AVIATORS CONTINUE HOP TO AUSTRALIA

Charles Kingsford-Smith Is Now Five Days Ahead of Hinkler's Record

HILL HAS JUST 500 MORE MILES TO FLY

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlement, Oct. 17.—Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith took off this morning from Surabaya, thus beginning the ninth day of his flight from England to Australia. The Australian aviator is five days ahead of the record for the same distance of Bert Hinkler, English flyer, who set an air record of fifteen and a half days from his homeland to Australia. The flyer arrived here last night after making the first nonstop flight over the 1,400 miles separating Rangoon from Singapore. Kingsford-Smith hopes to reach Australia Sunday.

SURABAYA, Java, Oct. 17.—Flight-Lieut. C. W. Hill, who left Batavia yesterday on another leg of a flight from England to Australia, arrived here safely and left at 5:15 a.m. today for Atamboro, Timor.

The young flyer who is racing Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith for a record flight to Australia, has just 500 miles more to go. This lies across the Timor Sea to Port Darwin, Australia, and is considered a dangerous part of the flight because of the long overwater jump.

SEATTLE FUR AUCTION

SEATTLE, Oct. 16.—Thousands of furs, mostly from Alaska, will be offered at auction here October 27 by the Seattle Fur Exchange. Among the various species will be several lots of original, winter-caught skins, said by experts to be rare in any market at this season. The auction stock includes marten, silver fox, cross fox, red fox, white fox, blue fox, mink, wolf, wolverine, fisher, ermine, muskrat, beaver, otter and lynx. Later auctions will be held November 24 and December 22.

Just Roamin' Around

Rover and I (Rover's my dog, and a good dog, too) have arrived in Victoria. We had heard that this city is a little bit of Old England away out on the West, and sort of dipping its feet into the short waves of the Pacific Ocean (which by the way, isn't always as pacific as it might be), and as we both love islands and island folk, here we are. The course of our journey, which we are making in a small boat, is just about perfect.

And so we followed the birds, and we came and were immediately conquered by the superb beauty of the place and its delightful environments, and, as we intend to remain here indefinitely, we just asked, "How do you like it?" and we want you to come with us, every day, if you will.

Being more or less accustomed to staid, flat, level and rectangularly laid out cities elsewhere, we are often getting to know a town better than the very residents themselves. Besides offering you daily observations, we shall register one daily kick, and we begin with this one: We were standing this morning at the corner of Fort and Government Streets, just a-waitin' for a car to take us to the beach, and a gentleman was evidently doing the same thing. So, to be sort of friendly, we said, "It's a lovely morning, isn't it?" Just like that, and he looked surprised at a mere stranger talking to him at all, and replied: "Well! It's all right, but the wind is damned cold!"

I looked at Rover and he wagged his tail; he always understands everything that is in my mind and he knew, right away, that I intend to start a campaign against all "climate kickers" at once, and so that is our kick for this morning. Don't grumble at the weather, it is so much worse everywhere else. I'm a sailor, living on a ship, and it's all right! However, we have one other kick, which we nearly forgot to mention. You see, Rover and I are old bachelors, and we feel sort of sore to think that the finest fashion parade and mannish show of the year took place at the Empress Hotel a few days ago, and we, being what we are, were not invited and couldn't go there anyway, and we hereby register a kick (number two) that there must be no more of creation any more, but has to take a back seat when it comes to clothes. And so we close, for today, with: We may not know the world at large, and never go to sea. But we can love-for-home discharge. Though Rover may should be. While diving in the nearest bay. Rare pearls we may not find. A-roamin' round our home-town may make us both wise and kind!

What to Serve for Supper

A Simple Way to Entertain a Large Number of Guests—Hot Dishes for This Time of Year—Easily Prepared Menus

By EDITH M. BARBER
It seems to me that I am always writing about buffet suppers. Perhaps it is because I use that informal method of entertaining friends myself. Another reason is because so often I am asked by readers for more about this subject.

In these maddening days we are all looking for ways in which we can entertain our friends to their enjoyment and to our own. The very first and most important rule of hospitality is to plan nothing in the way of entertainment which cannot be done with apparent ease.

In summer a sandwich and salad supper with a choice between hot and cold drinks makes a satisfactory supper, but now that the cooler days are here at least one hot dish should go on the supper list. Something to which the guests can help themselves easily should be chosen, also something which can be eaten easily without special cutting, as even when there are plenty of side tables where the guests may rest coffee cups and plates, chairs and tables seldom match each other in height. I once went to a buffet supper where fried chicken was served. Everyone struggled with a knife and fork until finally one brave person gave up the battle and used her fingers. Of course we all followed suit.

Piles of plates, the dishes of food, the silver and the napkins, should be arranged in order on one table so that the guests may help themselves easily.

In deciding upon what to serve, appearances should be considered even more than for a "sit-down" supper. Appetites will be tempted by attractive dishes which are spread out for them to choose. A salad especially can lend a decorative note. A ring of cheese jelly filled with cucumber and celery salad garnished with rings of green peppers and surrounded with alternating quarters of tomato and small artichoke hearts looks as well as it tastes—and that is very good if the vegetables have been marinated with a well-seasoned French dressing for several hours before they are served. Creamed mushrooms served in an oval, brown pottery dish, sprinkled with minced parsley and cold butter biscuits makes a good combination with such a salad. Plenty of hot biscuits and Melba toast, ripe and green olives, salted almonds, much hot coffee and you have a plentiful first course.

For desert a peach cake is rather a good choice. This is a layer cake put together with sliced peaches which have been standing with sugar and sweetened sauerkraut favoring for an hour or so. Over this a boiled frosting is spread at the last minute so that it is like a sauce instead of firm icing. This is flavored with lemon juice and vanilla. A few nuts may be sprinkled over the cake. Instead of the peaches, ice cream may be used as a filling and a chocolate or caramel sauce over all.

DISHERS FOR BUFFET SUPPER
Cheese Jelly Ring—Two cups milk, two egg yolks, half-pound of cheese, one teaspoon mustard, half teaspoon salt, half lemon juice, one tablespoon gelatin, two tablespoons cold water. Press cheese through a coarse strainer. Soak gelatin in water. Scald the milk and add a little of it to the beaten egg yolks. When well mixed stir into hot milk. Mix seasoning and add and stir mixture until it just begins to thicken. Add cheese and gelatin and stir until the mixture is smooth. Pour into a ring mold to chill and set. This will make about ten servings.

Tomato Jelly—Two cans tomato soup, one cup boiling water, one and half tablespoons gelatin, quarter cup cold water, ten to twelve stuffed olives.

Heat the soup with boiling water. Soften gelatin in cold water, add to soup and stir until dissolved. Arrange olives in bottom of mold and pour in carefully enough hot mixture to just cover the bottom of mold. Set in refrigerator or ice water to harden, and when set pour the first mixture alternately with the milk. Bake in greased tin pans twenty-five minutes in a moderate oven (375 degrees Fah.).

Rich Muffins—Quarter cup fat, quarter cup sugar, one egg, one cup milk, half teaspoon salt, three teaspoons baking powder.

Cream the fat, add the sugar and egg well beaten. Sift the baking powder with the flour and add to the first mixture alternately with the milk. Bake in greased tin pans twenty-five minutes in a moderate oven (375 degrees Fah.).

ATTRACTIVE SHOP TO OPEN TOMORROW

An attractive new shop, which will be known as Combies, will open tomorrow in Rooms 206 and 207 Kresge Building, and will be in charge of Mrs. B. C. Combe, Mrs. R. C. Treherne and Miss Vivian Combe. An interesting stock of novelties has been prepared, crafts of all kinds, candles and costumes being the specialties. Mrs. Combe will be in charge of the dressmaking for women and children, and fancy dresses will be a feature of the workroom. This phase of dressmaking is expected to make a strong appeal at the festive seasons of the year, and many novel designs await those seeking mass-produced dresses. Mrs. Treherne's candle is said to be unusually delicious, and creme de menthe delight, stuffed dates and fudges of all sorts will tempt the "sweet toother's" work, which will also be sold at Combies.

The lover of antiques will find many tempting "bits" in the shop. And there will be a large assortment of Oriental lingerie, curios, mandarin coats and embroideries. Leather work by Mrs. Leggett, of Dunsmuir, and Mrs. Matthews, of Westholme, will be a feature of the shop, which will attract a good deal of attention.

Other goods will be sold at the shop on a commission basis and a really delightful collection has been assembled in the bright and attractive showrooms. Orange, blue and black have been chosen as the shop colors, and the assistants will wear harmonizing smocks, with quaint artist bows.

Word has been received from Hollywood that Miss Rosemary Namith, of Victoria, has been engaged for a part in Douglas Fairbanks' next picture, which is now being directed by Edmund Goulding. As "Little Rosemary," awarded a scholarship at the B.C. Dramatic School some years ago, she will be remembered by many for her clever impersonation of the wounded boy, Dominique, in the first Canadian performance of "The Passing of the White Swan," a play adapted by Major Bullock-Webster from Sir Gilbert Parker's novel, "A Romance of the Snows." Miss Namith now plays under the name of Rosemary Bedford.

Plan Entertainment

MEXICO'S PRESIDENT
THREATENS TO RESIGN

Facel Orta Rubio May Leave
Office if Support of Revolutionaries Is Withdrawn

By A. ALCANTARA PASTOR
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily
News Foreign Service)

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 16.—President Pascual Orta Rubio sprang a surprise on a group of Federal Congressmen when he announced his intention to resign from office and retire into private life, if he was not supported by the National Revolutionary party and the Revolutionists themselves. The Congressmen interviewed the chief executive yesterday to discuss the appointment of a new chairman of the National Revolutionary party, to succeed former President Emilio Portes Gil, who resigned recently due to a political crisis.

POLITICAL MANOEUVRE
The President is reported as declaring that he will hand over his resignation to Congress, if he "ever feels that both the National Revolutionary party and the Revolutionaries have withdrawn their support." This announcement is interpreted as a determination of President Orta Rubio that he will not tolerate an encroachment of the party on the political and a threat to resign if pressure is brought to bear upon him to follow a different policy from that he has adopted.

President Orta Rubio's resignation, however, is most improbable, his statement being more of a political manoeuvre to force the Oppositionists to submission and no one will dare call his bluff.

REVOLUTIONARIES DIVIDED
The Revolutionaries are divided into two groups, Radicals and Moderates. Their differences and a desire to control the administration produced the recent political crisis, which resulted in the resignation of various Government officials. Both groups have agreed on the appointment of General Lázaro Cárdenas as chairman of the National Revolutionary party to succeed Senator Portes Gil. General Cárdenas has not been a prominent politician and may prove to be an unprejudiced party leader capable of bringing about harmony among the Revolutionaries.

QUAINT MARRIAGE
CUSTOMS IN FORCE

(Canadian Press)

CAPTOWN, South Africa, Oct. 15.—An attorney contributes an article to The Argus, dealing with the unfortunate position of women in marriage in South Africa: "It seems strange that a country like South Africa, which compares favorably in its commercial world with any other land, and which has just recently joined the other civilized countries by granting the women the franchise, should yet rank with the semi-barbaric states in its marriage laws. It seems stranger yet that the women of this country should first assert their new status by claiming to sit on the jury, rather than by agitating for an immediate improvement in their marital condition. The status of the married woman in South Africa is perhaps one of the biggest curiosities of the civilized world, for it differs very little from that existing in ancient Rome and medieval Europe.

NO INDEPENDENCE

As soon as a woman enters into marriage in this country, she immediately loses almost all her rights as a grown-up person, for she then comes under what is known as the marital power of her husband, who can, by virtue of it, do just as he pleases with all her property, even against her will. She cannot dispose of anything of her own, and if she does, her husband has the right to reclaim it from whoever has been foolish enough to contract with her. In short, her position is exactly the same in the eyes of the law as that of her infant child, except that the law magnanimously allows her to pledge her husband's credit for the bare necessities of life.

"In no other country except British Guiana does a similar state of law prevail at the present day. England and Scotland have had Women's Property Protection Acts passed since 1882, and in Germany in 1900, the whole marital condition was changed. Even Holland, the country from which our system is derived, no longer submits to a code which is so manifestly unjust to its women. With us, the state of the law can be entirely modified by antenuptial contract, and this is indeed what happens in almost every single marriage of the middle and upper classes. When one thinks that each antenuptial contract costs between seven and twelve guineas, and that there are more than 3,000 of them executed each year in the Union, one feels that an enormous sum of money is being paid into the pockets of lawyers which could be better spent by our young people.

AWKWARD SITUATION

"Quite recently a peculiar feature of our law has been revealed to us in the daily papers. A woman married a ship's officer who was not domiciled in South Africa. Now it is a principle of law that on marriage the woman acquires the domicile of her husband, and in this case the husband's domicile was Spain. Like many another sailor, he had a sweetheart in several ports and he soon grew tired of his lawfully wedded wife. She tried to sue him for divorce in the courts of this country, but found that she could not, for in matrimonial matters, the court of the conjugal domicile alone has jurisdiction. As she cannot afford to sue him in the courts of Spain, she is chained to him until he chooses to release her.

NEW CLEANER FOR STREETS

Having the appearance of a tractor, thrashing machine and truck combined, a vacuum street cleaner is being put into use in Vienna, Austria. It is equipped with powerful brooms which sweep the rubbish and dirt into piles. These piles are then pneumatically drawn up through a yawning mouth by whirling fans. The machine cleans the street in one operation, sweeping and removing the rubbish simultaneously. One feature is that it leaves the air clear behind it.

AINSWORTH IMPRESSES IN WORKOUT

Vancouver Opponent for Jumbo Davies Shows Up Well in Training

BETTING ON BOUT IS AT EVEN MONEY

Plenty of class was shown by George Ainsworth in his initial workout here last night for his bout with Jumbo Davies at the Variety Theatre tomorrow night. The Vancouver boy boxed four rounds with Wing Hay, shadow boxed and shipped another six rounds and finished fresh. A fair crowd braved the stormy weather to watch the mainlander in action and were impressed with his showing.

his last appearance here Ainsworth has improved vastly. He is faster, packs a harder wallop in each hand and is better fitted to stand the ten-round route.

EVEN MONEY BETTING

Many of those in attendance last night figure Ainsworth will defeat the younger Davies either by a knockout or by a decision, but with little betting was done as at even money.

Jumbo Davies also worked out against his brother, Abie, over four rounds, and appeared in the best of condition. Davies knows he will be up against a formidable opponent and is taking no chances on not being in shape. The rest of the fighters also appeared.

With both boys on edge, their managers have decided to call off any further training and will let their proteges rest until they enter the ring.

PORTLAND WINNER OF MIDDLE PARK STAKES

Sir Abe Bailey's Two-Year-Old Cops Famous Race by Three Lengths—Goyescas Second

NEWMARKET, Eng., Oct. 16.—Portland, starting favorite at even odds, won the famous Middle Park Stakes by three lengths today from the French-bred juvenile Goyescas, with Homer third, another four lengths back. Eight ran in this six-furlong feature, one of the group of great races for two-year-olds that set the Derby favorite for next year. The betting against Goyescas was 2 to 1 and against Homer 9 to 1.

Portland, owned by Sir Abe Bailey, Goyescas is a Gainsborough-Zariba colt owned by Marcel Boussac, French turfman, and Homer is owned by Anthony de Rothschild. Most Middle Park Stakes winners have been favorites or leading contenders for the Derby, though the last two-year-old to progress from this stake to victory in the blue riband was Call Boy, Derby winner of 1927. ## Steeplechaser Has Narrow Escape

JOCKEYS are made of tough stuff. They have to be. Here's Jockey W. Collins just before his mount, Torador II, reversed position and rolled over him after stumbling at the fourteenth jump in the Conover Steeplechase at Woodbine, Toronto. Jockey Collins was not hurt a whit. His only complaint was that a perfectly good race had been lost when his horse appeared to be in a position to score.

Bill Peden and Partner Now in Sixth Position
MONTREAL, Oct. 16.—The all-British team of Horace Ford and Low Elder had reeled off 1,375 miles and nine laps and had 196 points to their credit to take the lead from the Walkover-Leap team as Montrealers tonight during a prize race of three international six-day bicycle races here this evening. The Canadian Hockey Club entrants, Walkover and Leap, had covered the same distance as the first-place team, but were seventeen sprint points behind. One lap behind the two leaders was the Boston-Montreal duo of Crozier and Vachon, while the rest of the field was strung out from two to twelve laps behind.

The former leaders, Peden and Fielding, were well down the list with seven laps and five teams between them and first place.

Laurie Peppin Wins Decision Over Gotch
WINNIPEG, Oct. 16.—Laurie Peppin, Winnipeg middleweight, out-slugged Steve Gotch, Brooklyn, N.Y., middleweight, for a ten-round six-day fight here tonight. Peppin, following eight rounds of tame battling, finished fast and carried the judges' decision in his favor.

Al Harding, Vancouver lightweight, forced Freddy Tilton, local lightweight, to the limit in the semi-final before the Winnipeg boy captured the decision. Harding was eager and aggressive and his continual boring in pleased the crowd. Tilton, however, was the cleverer fighter and won the bout by a great margin of points.

Boston Bruins to Open Against N.Y. Americans Nov. 11

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—The Boston Bruins, supported by most of last season's players plus a few promising youngsters, will open the National Hockey League season here on November 11, against the New York Americans.

Manager Art Ross has disposed of only three of last year's flock, Mickey MacKay, who requested his liberty to get back into West Coast hockey; Bill Carson, who was away below form at centre last year, and Harry Connor, now back on the playing list of the Ottawa Senators.

Many of the Bruins Summered about Boston, and Ross expects to have his entire squad working out next week.

Freddie Steele Steps Al Grasio in First
TACOMA, Oct. 16.—Freddie Steele, young Tacoma 140-pounder, knocked out Al Grasio, Spokane, in the first round of the scheduled six-round main event of the boxing show here tonight.

Steele nailed Grasio early in the fight with a right uppercut that sent the Spokane boy down for nine. Grasio was down three times more before the boy's body for an hour, but he apparently had died a few seconds after his legs collapsed and he dropped to the canvas on his face.

His opponent was taken into custody by Chief of Police Ira Johnston on a technical charge, to be held pending an inquest.

Foy and Pongel, slugged fiercely through seven rounds, both landing in heavy blows to body and head. In the eighth and final round Foy seemed to launch a stronger attack. As Pongel stepped away from a frenzied rally he toppled over.

INSPECTION OF SOLDIERS HELD AT WORK POINT

Hon. Donald M. Sutherland Reviews Troops of Local Garrison

TELLS OF ADMIRATION FOR PERMANENT FORCE

On his first official tour of British Columbia as Minister of National Defence, Hon. Donald M. Sutherland inspected the permanent forces at Work Point Barracks yesterday morning. Practically the whole of the establishment at M.D. 11, under command of Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown, were in parade.

As the inspecting party approached the parade ground the troops came to the general salute from the words of command by Lieut.-Colonel A. V. Tremaine, in charge of the parade. The soldiers stood at attention as the Minister of National Defence, accompanied by Brigadier A. Clyde Caldwell, Major G. H. Brown and Brigadier Sutherland Brown made their way between the two ranks.

The inspection over, Hon. Donald M. Sutherland addressed the troops. He spoke of his great admiration for the permanent force in Canada and stated that he would do all in his power to develop the service of which he has been placed in charge.

Officers of the Military District No. 11 on the lawn in addition to Brigadier Sutherland Brown were: Colonel J. C. R. Parson, Lieut.-Colonel P. Gilman, Colonel L. Drum, Colonel H. Panet, Major J. A. Murray, Major G. E. Edwards, Captain F. B. Underwood, Major J. S. Bycroft, and Lieut.-Colonel A. V. Tremaine, who was in charge of the parade.

The D.O.C. called for three cheers for the Minister of National Defence, following the address.

HEAVY PASSENGER LIST ON RUSSIA

Carries 700 on Outbound Trip to Orient—Canadian Chamber of Commerce Party Aboard

With a heavy passenger list for this time of the year and more than usually large consignment of cargo for Oriental ports the R.M.S. Empress of Russia, Captain A. J. Hosken, sailed from Rihet's Pier, outbound for the Orient, at 6 o'clock last night.

There were eighty first class, sixty second class, thirty third class and 530 steerage passengers aboard. Her cargo was approximately 3,000 tons, the largest consignment being for discharge at Hongkong.

Other prominent passengers, in addition to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce tour party, included D. P. Warren, commissioner of immigration for Canada, and Mrs. Warren; Mrs. E. L. and Miss E. Benton, relatives of Captain J. R. Alder, formerly of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales; George Fulton, manager of Lever Bros., and his wife; A. C. Horel, an official of Com. Products Refining Company; Mrs. Edward Little, wife of the manager of the Tacoma Oriental Steamship Company, and Harry Town, representative of the company, Mr. O'Hanlon & Co., Ltd., Manchester, England.

A party of Jesuit missionaries, proceeding to their mission at Zaka-Wel, were also aboard.

INTERNATIONAL NICKEL INSIDERS ARE BUYING

Underneath General Wave of Selling on New York Market There Is Buying for Long Hold

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Rumors that one of the biggest automobile plants in the country would be closed down in the near future and further liquidation was responsible for a lower stock market today. The action of the market in declining was a big disappointment to the Street, which had gone home optimistic the previous night.

Notwithstanding all the pessimistic talk there are many insiders of big companies who have confidence in their own securities and are absorbing and taking them out of the market on all setbacks. This is declared to be particularly true of International Nickel and General Motors.

FOR LONG HOLD
Underneath the wave of selling there is steady accumulation of stocks by people who are in financial position to keep their purchases for a longer period. The fact that the brokerage loans are steadily shrinking. One of the large commission houses which had loans of about $80,000,000 during the boom now reports borrowings down to approximately $20,000,000. Another large house declares that its loans have been reduced from about $100,000,000 to $25,000,000.

WARNER BROS.
An outstanding feature of strength was found in Warner Brothers pictures. A strong group is declared to have been formed in this issue because of the outlook for the company. Earnings for the fiscal year ended September 30 last are declared to have approximated $3 a share on the stock. The first and second quarters of the company's fiscal year are expected to make a favorable showing.

Conservative groups have been organized in a number of good stocks which are under process of accumulation. The managers of these pools, however, will not undertake to do anything marketwise until the general market shows signs of becoming stabilized.

RUSSIAN CHOIR HAS SECOND OVATION AT FINAL PERFORMANCE

A second audience, still more enthusiastic than on the first night, and which included His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Mackenzie, greeted the Princess Agrevena Slaviansky and her Royal Russian chorus when they appeared for the last time at the Royal Victoria Theatre last evening.

In general outline the programme was very similar to Wednesday's, and in its presentation seemed to have gained even a little in the peculiar fire and colorful quality which has given it such character and appeal. The typically Russian songs, particularly those of peasant and gipsy origin, were at all times the most interesting, in their monotonous rhythmic offering a descriptive suggestion of the movements of figures in dance or during the songs of labor, or even in "Kobza," for instance, suggesting the peculiar burr and strum of the Ukrainian instrument.

The remarkable diction heard in "The Old Birch Tree," "Kobza," and similar songs; old Russia's sense of reverence, revealed in the chanting "Gredy" and "Holy Father, Have Mercy"; the cloud-and-shadow picture seen in "Green Meadows"; the race-old sadness threatening through the "Volga Boat Song"; the barbaric love of color and fiery motion hinted in the gipsy and folk dances, combined to hold the fascinated attention of the audience.

Courtesy Jean de Suzanne's group of solos was again greatly enjoyed. The beautiful chastity of tone, breadth of phrasing, facility of diction, and faultless style made each number delightful, the songs being "El Vito" (Joquin Nin); Carpenter's "I Am Like a Remnant of a Cloud of Autumn"; and "The Aris from Rossini's 'Semiramide'." Amin Miaz, Eileen Dumbleton made a splendid accompanist.

Reference to the maintenance of cotas called attention to the fact that during the present year the following have subscribed the requisite $250 or over for this purpose: John Galt, ($1,000); Anonymous, ($500); Mrs. H. Gouding Wilson, Mrs. C. S. Law, Mrs. B. W. Pearce, British Columbia Telephone Company, Mrs. E. D. Todd, James Island Ladies Aid, Army and Navy Veterans (Unit No. 12), Lorne Campbell (Rosland, B.C.) and J. A. Sayard.

The Other Bullet

By NANCY BARR MAVITY

CHAPTER XVI
Long after the name of Aline Everett was all but forgotten by the general public, it was quoted with familiar admiration in the shop talk of the legal profession. The defendant to be sure, was remembered only as a necessary pre-requisite. What happened to Aline Everett was unimportant. It was as an example of brilliant defence against heavy odds that the Everett case achieved fame in California legal history.

The part played by Peter Piper
of the Herald in shaping the course of that surprising drama was never mentioned. He held an even less important place in the recital than Aline Everett, for the reminiscent lawyers had never heard of him.
Yet if it had not been for Peter that classic defence would never have become famous, and in all likelihood twelve men and women, modern descendants of the ancient fates, would have spun a different thread of life for Aline Everett.

Jake Carter no longer had time to sit with his feet on the veranda railing. His hotel was filled with city reporters who demanded letter water at all hours, played poker nocturnally long after a reasonable bedtime, and consumed unlimited quantities of a frogger. Jake viewed with abysmal contempt anyone who diluted good whiskey with any milder beverage. He disliked having his rest disturbed by the clacking of typewriters and the shouting through open transoms of requests for cigarettes and correct initials. He objected to the honking of automobile horns as pre-ludes to the racket they make about the city. He had "filed their yarns" at the telegraph office ten miles away and who seemed to think that the occasion called for loud celebration.
Peter alone remained in his good graces.

"All this fuss over a mere shootin'!" he said with deep distaste. "Times was when we stir-up a fellow or let him go, and the whole business didn't take more'n half an hour. You'd think nobody'd ever got a bullet in him before.
Now they're makin' a racket over
it. It's plumb spoilin' the Summer, that's what it is." He shuffled surlily down the hall in response to a shouted "Hey!" Jake's hotel was innocent of bells.

"I ain't even got time to read
the paper any more," he added
pathetically over his shoulder.
"And when I do, get a look at it,
it's all full of what's happenin'."
Right around here, that I know already. What they find to write so much about, I dunno. Here the trial's been goin' on a week, and they're still pickin' a jury. I believe that city lawyer gets paid by the day, and is wastin' time on purpose. Why should he care who's on the jury? One feller's as good as another, say I."

The selection of the jury was indeed a long drawn out affair, eliciting groans from the press as well as the hotelkeeper. It was increasingly difficult to make a daily spot news story from the monotonous succession of "excuseds." Moreover, Peter was worried. He wondered if he had made a mistake in selecting Jerome Travis as defence counsel. Tall, handsome, sharp-featured, with a grim mouth and humorous eyes,
playing the game with the cautious deliberation of a chess player and with a chess player's detachment from human values, Travis was easily the leading criminal lawyer in the city. His suave courtesy of manner flashed at times into rapper-keen sarcasm. When he "took an exception," judges had a way of retiring to their chambers at the earliest opportunity, and emerging to announce that they had reconsidered their rulings.

His impeccably tailored grey suit
seemed in some miraculous manner to shed the yellow August dust which settled on everything in the hot courtroom. The soft collar of his white silk shirt remained immaculate when other collars wilted.
But Peter, the perpendicular line of a worried frown between his eyes,
sensed that the figure of Travis
had served to intensify the subtle antagonism of a rural community
towards an urban interloper.

The first tactical advantage lay with Travis. He had succeeded in disqualifying the local judge, who
with undue frankness had expressed the opinion that "this business of women shootin' up whoever they liked and getting away with it had gone too far." Judge Wood, appointed by the Judicial Council to try the case, was at least impartial.
With a Vermont accent which decades of residence in California
had left unimpaired, he beckoned
the men and women in the jury box
like a patient but sorely tried school master.

Travis wisely hoarded his peremptory challenges, leaving the general questioning to the judge
as slip after slip was drawn from the revolving tin box.

"You understand, Mr. Hankins, that it is the province of the court to rule in matters of law. Will you abide by the court's rulings?"
the judge repeated for the twentieth time.

"If I think they're right, I will!"
"Now, Mr. Hankins," Judge Wood
spoke with elaborate reasonableness.
"It is not the province of the jurors to determine matters of law but only of fact. The court is the sole judge of the law in the case."

Mr. Hankins' round face redened stubbornly.
"Well if I thought you was wrong, I'd sure vote against you."
"The court will excuse Mr. Hankins."

Travis drew a neat line through the name of Albert Hankins on the list before him, and leaned back,
fingering his gold pencil.
The questions rumbled on.
"You have heard the questions put to the other jurors. Miss Hinman, would you be prejudiced in favor of the defendant because she is a woman?"
"Not when she's that kind of a woman!" The words came with venomous energy from thin and spinstership lips.
"The defence will excuse Miss Hinkman for cause." The gold pencil tapped sharply on the scarred
table top.
"Would you be prejudiced against the defendant because she is a woman?" Linforth, the district attorney, interposed.
"I'm certainly prejudiced against any woman who..."
"One moment, please," Travis

spoke so quickly that Miss Hin-man's pale lips remained half open.
"In the interests of time, the defence is quite willing to leave it to his honor to question the juror."

The judge leaned forward.
"Well, now, Miss—er—Hinkman, laying such prejudice aside, would you be willing to be tried in a case of this kind by a jury of like mind
with yourself?"

Miss Hinkman's lips pursed with conscious virtue.
"If I'd acted like Mrs. Everett, I'd certainly think any jury was a parcel of fools that let me off!"

"The court will excuse Miss Hinman."

With a flouncing of skirts and a malevolent backward glance at Travis, Miss Hinkman took a triumphant departure.
Again and again the same questions were repeated.
"Conscientious scruples against the death penalty in a proper case
..." At each mention of the death penalty, Aline Everett flinched. She sat at the table next to Travis, but she disregarded him.
Her eyes were fixed on the procession of men and women who filed forward to the jury box.

"Mr. Hicks, you have heard what I said to the other jurors. Do you understand the nature of circumstantial evidence?"

"Well, I'll tell you how it is,"
Mr. Hicks, who had held forth as local philosopher in front of the general store on numerous occasions, leaned back at his ease, pres-

sing the tips of his bony fingers together.
"I wouldn't convict nobody on circumstantial evidence unless I was right there and saw the crime committed."

"But if you saw the crime committed, you would not be allowed to serve as a juror. You would be a witness," the judge explained patiently.

"I've said my say, and I'll stick to it. I'd want to see what happened with my own eyes."

Aline's tense face lightened with gratitude and hope.

"The people will excuse Mr. Hicks," Linforth interposed hastily.
"Mr. Linforth, the court is questioning this juror." The judge's lean, worn face with its crown of carefully brushed grey hair turned to the district attorney as if he were a child who had spoken out of turn. Peter somehow expected him to produce a ruler and rap
Linforth over the knuckles with it.
"That court will excuse Mr. Hicks."

Aline's lips parted in a faint sigh
of disappointment.

"With 'hed go in," she whispered. But Travis shook his head warningly.

"The challenge is with the people..." The challenge is with the defence..." The words rang in her ears like some endlessly repeated refrain.

"The people are content."
Content! What an odd word to use! Aline's eyes roved over the two rows of chairs in the jury
box, resting on each face in turn.
—faces red and glistening with the heat, faced dry and pinched, faces dull and blank, or self-important,
or eager with curiosity—the faces of the men and women who could send her to the gallows. Somewhere

she had read the phrase, "a jury of your peers." But they were not her peers! "Conscientious scruples against the death penalty in a proper case." They could sentence her to death. She was in the power of those stupid, pompous faces. But they were not her peers. They could kill her, but that did not make her one of them. Going down to death, between those rows of leering faces, hers was still the victory. They could not bring her to their level, nor make less than herself.

As the jury rose to file out, she opened her small brocade bag, and with swift, sure fingers drew out her long green holder and deftly inserted a cigarette.

"The challenge is with the defence..."
She challenged them. "Dauntless the slug horn—" She met their inimical eyes with a mocking smile on her carefully rouged lips.
A series of perfect smoke rings
floated towards the empty jury box.
Above the smile her eyes stared straight before her with the filtering brightness of an unsheathed sword.

She scarcely noticed when Travis' long, dry fingers seized her wrist. Unresisting, she allowed him to wrench the cigarette holder from her hand, and grind it under his heel on the courtroom floor.

last hole, hit and killed a swallow.
The ball was only slightly deflected,

match, winning the applause of the gallery.

THAT WONDERFUL FOOD—SUGAR

What should be your opinion of a food that is "cheap, clean, white,
can be carried about on your person, never perishes or grows impure, is undiluted, very pleasant to taste, free from germs,
highly nutritious, is completely soluble in water, tea, or other liquid,
is completely digestible, every portion is digested by the body, requires no cooking, and there is not one particle of waste after it is eaten."

This description of a wonderful food was applied by the late Dr.
E. E. Shroeder to SUGAR, because sugar fulfills all the above.

Just read it over again before you go further.
And so in these days when you read of the dangers of sugar; that it will cause diabetes, kidney and heart ailments, and put on a great deal of extra weight, it should be worth your while to stop and consider all the above points.

Whether you want to play hard or work hard, sugar is your best standby. It gets into the blood faster or in a shorter time than other foods, and is thus being used

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals
the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal

the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, bronchopneumonia, and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu.
Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

CREOMULSION FOR THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

by the muscles that much sooner.
And remember that it is the muscles that do the work in the body, whether it is moving your arms or legs, bending you forward, backward, or sideways; or the muscles
of the intestine, the blood vessels,
lungs or elsewhere where muscle
fibres are located.

And last but not least, don't forget that your heart muscle itself
feeds on this sugar, actually needs
this sugar to do its work properly.
In fact research physicians are now using sugar in cases of failing heart, because it is such a wonderfully concentrated food for the heart muscle, and gives results so quickly.

However my advice is not that you eat all the sugar you possibly can every day. That would not be wise, because sugar is eaten to give energy to the body; the body is meant to work and thus use up the sugar eaten.

If you eat large amounts of sugar
and do no physical work, then you put on weight as the sugar is turned to fat, or you may give your liver and kidneys too much work to do.

However the whole point is that sugar is all that was said above
about it, if it is used wisely.

turer and produce a comfortable
hot-weather phone booth.—Life.

ALIBI DEFENCE IS PRESENTED BY TWO ACCUSED AT TRIAL

VANCOUVER, Oct. 16.—Two of the accused men—Charles Keating and James W. A. Erickson on a charge of attempting to rob the Broadway branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce April 11.

AMAZING ADVENTURES SHOWN IN "INGAGI"

Well balanced between education and entertainment, "Ingagi," coming Saturday to the Coliseum Theatre, is the most remarkable and the most widely discussed film of the decade. It introduces the spectator to some of the most amazing adventures that could be described, and concludes with the graphic portrayal of a legend of the Congo that is breath-taking.

At The Playhouses

PLAYHOUSE The King and Queen of England and the Duke and Duchess of York attended the Prince of Wales Theatre in London to see a performance of "Journey's End," just a couple of days prior to Colin Clive leaving the cast for eight weeks to go to Hollywood to play the role of Captain Stanhope. "Journey's End" is now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, with Clive playing the leading role through special permission of Maurice Browne, Ltd.

COLISEUM Two modern writers went back thirty years for atmosphere for "The Florodora Girl," Marion Davies' new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle, now at the Coliseum Theatre. They were Gene Markey, who wrote the original story, and Ralph Spence, who contributed additional dialogue to the screen play. Harry Beaumont directed with Lawrence Gray playing opposite the star.

DOMINION The fact "Old English" is the first John Galsworthy play to be offered on the talking screen is a concession on the part of that famous author to George Arliss. Mr. Arliss personally persuaded the distinguished playwright to allow him to use "Old English" for his third Vitaphone picture. It is now at the Dominion Theatre.

CAPITOL The great Jack Oakie grin invasion which began for the delectation of millions of talkie-goers, a year or so ago, continues its irrepressible spasms of laughter at the Capitol Theatre.

COLUMBIA The color, beauty and dramatic sweep of the story of "Tiger Rose" now showing at the Columbia Theatre, was splendid material for George Fitzmaurice, director of the Warner Bros. version of this famous stage melodrama. Mr. Fitzmaurice, who studied art in Paris, has a fine sense of the values of a story. For this reason, Director Fitzmaurice and "Tiger Rose" was a splendid combination, as proved by the high entertainment quality of the picture.

GERMAN FEMINISTS GAIN

Although the feminist movement is less vocal in Germany than in some other countries, it continues to make substantial progress. Much attention is being given to the education of girls and women, not only in household matters but in training that fits them for all the many professions open to them. One of the most popular institutions of the kind is the Lette-Verein, Berlin, which has been leading in feminist education for half a century. The principal, Dr. Lily Hauff, is a leading figure in the feminist world of Germany.

It is all too often that the Declarer having trumps to spare in his own hand will blindly lead them out at the first opportunity, and later on finds himself lacking the necessary entries in own hand to take needed finesses, or with lack of an entry in Dummy with which to bring in a long side card after it has become established.

In the above deal played by West with Hearts the trump, it is advisable to play the Hearts and the Clubs alternately and to leave the Ace of Hearts in the Dummy in order to make the thirteenth Club. If this plan of play is successful it may become unnecessary to attempt the strip of the hand in order to force an adversary to make the first lead of a Diamond.

SALIENT POINTS OF THE BIDDING
 Contract: South, West and North pass, and East opens the bidding fourth hand with one No Trump. He is but slightly lacking in the requirements for an opening bid of two No Trumps.

South passes and West, with five Hearts, four Diamonds, three Clubs and a singleton Spade, takes out with two Hearts. North passes and East bids four Hearts, concluding the bidding.

Auction: East opens the bidding fourth hand with one No Trump. South passes and West bids two Hearts, concluding the bidding.

THE PLAY
 North opens his fourth best Spade, the three. Since the Declarer has a singleton Spade in his own hand, the trick is taken with the Ace in Dummy. The five of Hearts is led from Dummy and taken by the Declarer with the ten. Declarer leads the eight of Clubs. North plays the two. Dummy plays the five and South takes the trick with the Queen.

South cannot lead the King of Spades for the reason that to do so would set up the Queen in Dummy. He does not like to lead the Ace of Diamonds and allow Declarer and Dummy to throw worthless cards thereon. A Club West has started himself. Since Declarer and Dummy apparently have all the high Hearts between them anyway, that suit appears to be the best to lead. Accordingly he leads the six of Hearts. Declarer plays the King from his own hand and the Queen under it from the Dummy.

Declarer now leads the Jack of

Vancouver Independent Bakers Make Charges Before Civic Body

CITY ASKS MINISTER TO PROBE SITUATION

VANCOUVER, Oct. 16.—Charges that a number of mill-controlled bakeries are seeking to obtain a monopoly of the Vancouver bread market, and that independent bakers are facing a critical situation as a result, were made to the civic finance committee by representatives of the Independent Bakers' Association of Greater Vancouver. At the instance of the bakers' delegation, the committee instructed City Solicitor J. B. Williams to obtain full information from the independent bakers for submission to Hon. Gideon Robertson, Minister of Labor, with a request that the situation be investigated immediately.

SAYS PRICE IS HIGH

Secretary A. L. Woods of the independent bakers told the committee that when flour costs $7.05 a barrel, bread sells for nine cents a loaf. The price of bread, however, now is one and one-half cents lower, but flour has decreased in price only $1.30 a barrel. "Some time ago representatives of the Master Bakers' Association told the council," said Mr. Woods, "that a difference of $2.70 in the price of a barrel of flour was necessary before the price of a loaf can be changed one cent. Now if that is the case, it is obvious that the price of flour is too high. The cost of a barrel of flour now is $5.75."

MILL-CONTROLLED FIRMS

A. H. Davis, also representing the independent bakers, told the committee there are five mill-controlled bakeries in Vancouver, and, he charged, these firms are supplied with flour at whatever price suits the mill owners. On the other hand, he said, the independent bakers are charged $5.75 a barrel.

That they might quickly reach persons in danger of drowning, police are patrolling the waterfront of Vienna, Austria, have been supplied with special skis with which they can walk on water. A double-bladed car is used to propel the wearer and help him to keep in balance.

Reliability and economy are outstanding features of the new Ford

ENTHUSIASTIC letters about the Ford car arrive daily from every part of the world. The following is typical of a great number received.

"Just a word regarding our experience with the Model A Ford.

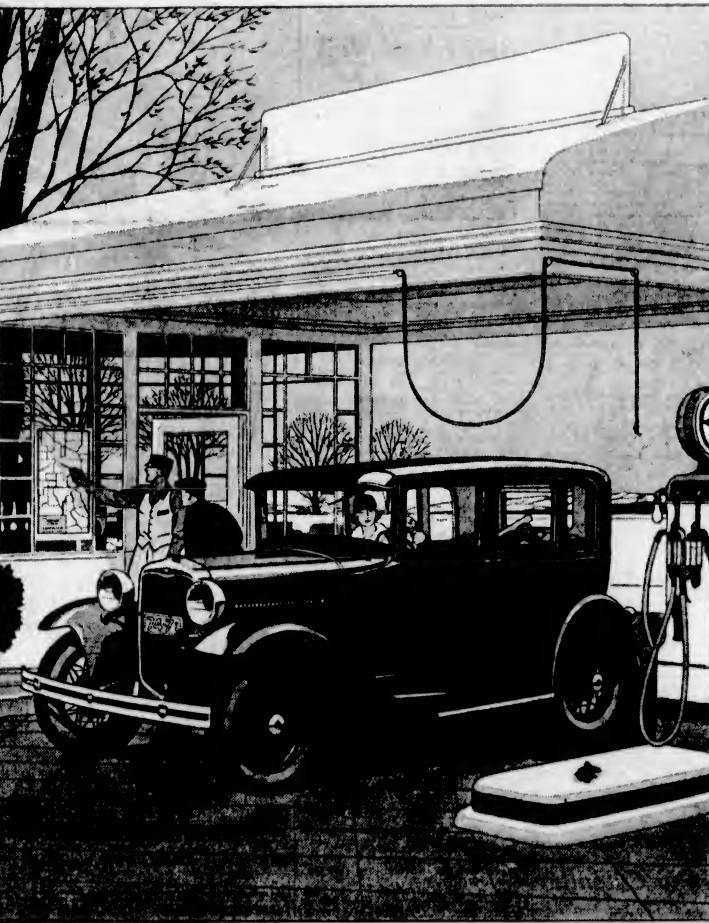

"In the first twelve months it was driven more than twenty-four thousand miles over all kinds of roads and in all kinds of weather, from the nearly impassable roads we had in the spring through the burning summer heat. Also through the heaviest of rain-storms where many cars were dead and had to sit on the roadside until they were dried out and pulled in, and through deep snow.

"The valves were ground at twenty thousand miles and apparently the car was running perfectly at that time, but some of the service men thought it would be advisable to grind them. Inspection of the motor at that time showed it to be in perfect condition.

"The only replacement expense we had was 75c for a shock-absorber link and 50c for a new rubber for the windshield wiper.

"The car has given an average better than twenty-four miles to the gallon of gas. We are well pleased with the performance of the Model A Ford car and believe it is the most economical car on the market."

Thousands of other Ford owners report the same satisfactory service and unusual economy of operation and up-keep. In comfort, safety, speed, power, beauty, reliability and long life—in everything that goes to make a good automobile—the new Ford is a value far above the price you pay.

Because of this value, the new Ford is outselling every other car in Canada by a large and increasing margin. In some sections, between 50% and 70% of all cars sold are Model A Fords. That's something to remember.

Dr. Forrester told of patients whose legs could not be uncrossed, or whose fingers were gripped together tight

HONOR IS ACCORDED VICTORIA ARCHITECT

P. Leonard James, of the firm of James & Savage, Victoria architects, has been elected a Fellow of the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada. The Institute is a federation of the various provincial associations, and was incorporated in the year 1908, with headquarters in Montreal. Mr. James was one of the original charter members.

Mr. James came to Victoria in 1908, and among other notable buildings for which he is responsible, was associated with P. H. Rattenbury in designing the Crystal Garden and the Canadian Pacific Railway wharf ticket office.

Surprised by a speeding motorcycle, ridden by A. Cummings, of Elie, Scotland, a hare attempted to jump over the machine, but hit the handle bars, throwing Cummings off and causing the machine to fall on the animal, killing it.

Filled with figures of fairies, gnomes and animals, an "elfin tree" was unveiled recently in Kensington, England. The "elfin tree" is the work of Ivor Innes, who has adapted the natural forms of beecher roots and tree trunks to disclose the figures. The tree trunk is that of an old pollarded oak, showing unusual distortions of growth and grain. Out of these the artist has fashioned seventy-four little people and animals.

URGE HISTORY BOOKS OF CANADIAN ORIGIN IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

CORNWALL, Ont., Oct. 16.—Immediate steps to secure the general use of history textbooks of Canadian origin in all public schools are urged in the report of a special committee of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce presented at the opening of the annual convention of this body here today.

The committee has been studying the question of history textbooks during the past year and finds that "in some school systems in Canada the only history textbook is one written and published in the United States, and apart from isolated statements which are unfair and misleading with respect to Canada and the Empire, the emphasis is naturally on the United States."

It is also suggested that the Department of Education should have prepared a series of booklets giving an account of the local history of each country and authorize their use in the schools as supplements to the courses in Canadian history.

CIVIL SERVANTS DO NOT ACCEPT CORONER FEES

Government Agents on Salary Basis Made no Charge for Inquests

JUSTICE MACDONALD CLOSES WATT INQUIRY

Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald closed the Norman Watt inquiry yesterday, after a final hearing at the court house, in which it was decided no further evidence would be taken. His Lordship said he would report his findings on the investigation at an early date, and thanked C. H. Locke, K.C., counsel for the inquiry, for his assistance at the hearings, which began in Prince Rupert recently.

A. M. Manson, K.C., counsel for the former Government agent at Prince Rupert, was unable to be present, but entered written objection to the taking of further evidence as to the practice followed by civil servants in regard to coroners' fees.

DECLARATIONS OFFERED
At the opening of the hearing Mr. Locke asked leave to put in statutory declarations by Government agents at Williams Lake, Smithers, Prince George, Quesnel, Cumberland and Vernon, or those districts which also take in organized territory. The declarations showed no fees had been charged by Government agents for coroners' inquests.

It was on record, Mr. Locke said, that in one, other instance, where a fee of $15 had been accepted, this money had been paid into provincial revenue, and that a coroner at Chilliwack, who was not a Government agent nor on salary, had been paid by the Attorney-General's Department for inquests held.

Counsel for the inquiry also offered evidence to show that the commissions held by the six Government agents in the districts mentioned were the same as that formerly held by Mr. Watt, and proposed calling A. B. McNeill, of the staff of the provincial finance department, to show that between 1924 and 1929 Government agents had not charged coroners' fees in organized districts.

CASE IS CLOSED

All this, said Mr. Locke, was addressed to the point of what the practice had been. Had the practice been reversed it would have been open to Mr. Watt to call this class of testimony, he submitted. Mr. Manson, as counsel for Mr. Watt, had made statements to the effect that other coroners had charged and accepted fees, he stated.

Mr. Justice Macdonald, pointing to the objection raised to the entry of this evidence by counsel for Mr. Watt, said he was inclined to agree that testimony along this line was irrelevant to the issue and need not be entered. Mr. Manson had referred in a statement to what the practice of coroners was, stating that Government agents were permitted to accept coroners' fees, but no evidence had been called in support of that particular statement. He must rule that the evidence was closed, and would make his report at the earliest possible moment, he concluded.

What Today Means

"LIBRA"
If October 17 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a.m. to 10:40 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. The danger periods are from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Astrological influences on this date will promote industry, and the fruits of the day will be from hard labor. Success through merit is shown. Developments in life which bring great happiness. Much fluctuation in finance. Unhappiness is personal relationships.

The child born on this October 17 will have a vacillating nature, but will have a kind and lovable disposition. It will not be overly ambitious, but will have a contented spirit. It will be fortunate in quiet and subordinate positions. It will benefit through friends.

If your success depends on pure ability to do things, on a mind which quickly grasps knowledge, on a likable disposition, and on personal virtues, it would be assured. Ability, however, is no more important than stickability; persistence counts. You are not lacking in ambitious desires, but you prefer Fate to fulfill them without your personal supervision, or personal sacrifices. You are a manufacturer of ideas, but after their birth, they must fend for themselves, or be adopted by someone else. You seem content, because of a lazy streak, to remain on lower notches than those for which Nature has fitted you.

You are of good nature, and you do not resent the efforts of others to prod you on to greater things. If the demands are too irksome, however, you simply balk and cannot be budged further. You are a great reader, a keen observer and a dreamer. You are ever working out solutions for the troubles of the world. You can correctly analyze most things which do not strike too near home. You refuse to analyze, or to take too seriously, your own weaknesses. Other people worry for and about you, but it may be said that you almost never worry. Because of your sunny smile, your playful moods, and insane optimism, the world is ready to forgive you much and help you much. Although you take much for granted, people do not resent doing things for you. You have an amorous nature.

Union Protests Against Use of Transcriptions

OTTAWA, Oct. 18.—Protesting against any modification of the regulations governing the use of electrical transcriptions in radio broadcasting, officials of the Musicians' Union have communicated with the Dominion Government. A few days ago a deputation of owners of broadcast stations requested permission to make a limited use of electrical transcriptions.

The Musicians' Union claims that the use of transcriptions imported from the United States would mean less work for Canadian orchestras and musicians in the programmes provided by Canadian stations.

VANCOUVER TO RECEIVE HELP WITH OUTLAYS

Recognizing Special Circumstances, Government Grants $100,000

SPECIAL WARRANT IS PASSED BY PROVINCE

Recognizing unusual circumstances not repeated elsewhere in the province, the Provincial Government yesterday appropriated $100,000 by special warrant, to be paid to the city of Vancouver to compensate it in part for the money spent on unemployment relief last winter and in the Spring of this year.

In announcing that this sum would be made available immediately for Vancouver, Premier Tomin pointed out that the grant had nothing to do with the Federal unemployment relief scheme, but was in recognition of the fact that $500,000 had been expended by the Mainland city in caring for destitute people who had flocked in from the prairies, logging and fishing camps during last winter and in the early months of this year.

The grant was not to be taken as a precedent, the Premier stated, as this situation has not arisen at any other point in the province. "Vancouver," the Premier emphasized, "had to meet an unique situation. Thousands of men who had been thrown out of employment in other parts of British Columbia and in other provinces poured into Vancouver. The civic authorities had to take care of them last winter, and in the Spring. This was not properly a Vancouver problem, but Vancouver had to meet it. The Government feels that it is only fair that the provincial treasury should help to pay part of this cost," Premier Tomin concluded.

The special warrant authorizing the action was approved by the Cabinet yesterday, in addition to financing of the province's share of the Federal unemployment relief plans, for which the sum of $500,000 has been authorized to start immediate work.

FIVE-DAY WEEK FOR VANCOUVER

Civic Employees on Construction Governed by Ruling of Council

PLANS ARE DISCUSSED

VANCOUVER, Oct. 16.—The city will request the Provincial Government for assistance from Federal and provincial employment funds on the basis of a $250,000 appropriation which civic authorities are prepared to make to meet unemployment conditions this winter. It was decided at a meeting of the city board of works today.

As the Government is prepared to pay part of the cost of labor only on any project, and will not pay for materials involved, the requested contribution is computed on a basis of about 70 per cent of the day's appropriation. This would bring the amount available up to about $480,000, if the Government contributes the expected $250,000.

A report showing unexpended by-law balances of $516,000 was submitted to the board by Charles Breckenridge, city engineer. Of this amount, $236,000 is held in reserve to provide work for regular city employees.

The board decided on a majority vote, the regular city employees on construction work should go on a five-day week instead of the present five and a half days. This, it was pointed out, will provide work for one additional man for every eleven now employed. About a thousand men are concerned.

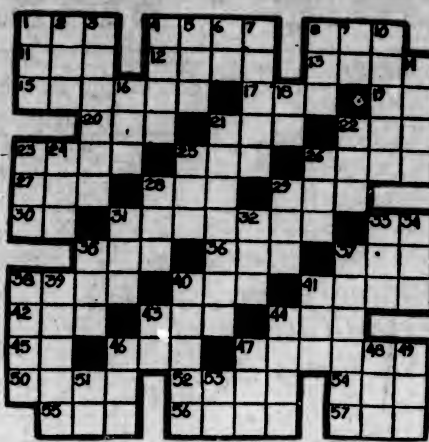

Only men working on construction will be affected by this ruling, which will go into effect on October 29.

Three-Man Commission For Vancouver Urged

VANCOUVER, Oct. 16.—Establishment of a three-man commission to take charge of administration of the city's business will be recommended by Mayor W. H. Malkin at Monday afternoon's meeting of the city council.

"The mayor will ask the council to request the Legislature at its next session to pass an amendment to the city's charter enabling appointment of a commission. With

Sigurd Jussila Is Accused of Death of Charles Yoch—Hearing Opens Monday

ARRESTED WITHIN MONTH

Sigurd Jussila, arrested by the Provincial Police early this week, in connection with the death of Charles Yoch, of Houston, B.C., has been charged with murder, and will appear at a preliminary hearing at Smithers on Monday. It was stated at headquarters of the force here yesterday.

The mangled body of the Houston farmer was found buried under the floor of his cabin some days after the killing is supposed to have taken place.

Jussila was arrested when found in possession of a rifle said to have been the property of Yoch, and other articles. Less than a month elapsed between the discovery of the murder and the arrest of the man now charged with the deed.

PROSPERITY Starts with Thrift!

The Prosperity of a Nation Has Its Foundation Laid in Economy. Castrol, the product of an All-British Firm, Offers the Utmost Efficiency . . . With Thrift!

MILLIONS and millions of dollars in cold, hard-earned cash are wasted each year by Canadians in the purchase of inferior oils. These oils which are mainly products of foreign companies and imported into Canada do not provide proper lubrication and require frequent changes.

That is why such an oil costs a few cents less per quart than Castrol, but actual cost of lubrication is determined not by price per quart or per gallon . . . but cost per mile!

Castrol gives considerably longer mileage than these imported oils produced by foreign companies. It is not only the most economical lubricant the thrifty motorist can use . . . but it offers the utmost protection to the motor under all conditions.

9-Tube Super-Heterodyne Sets

$189.50 each

HERE is the opportunity you have been waiting for—a 9-tube super-heterodyne set in a magnificent cabinet for $189.50. Heretofore super-heterodyne sets have been too expensive for the average home.

Westinghouse engineers were the first to develop the super-heterodyne circuit—a circuit that is super sensitive and attains phenomenal selectivity. This year for the first time, other radio manufacturers are using the super-heterodyne circuit.

Its outstanding characteristics in receivership are realism and fidelity of tone. These models are provided with a tone modulator and a long-distance switch which dispenses entirely with the aerial for powerful signals.

The cone of the powerful synchro-dynamic speaker of these models is constructed of special material, with scientific design corrugations embossed, which prevent distortion at any volume, retaining a harmonic balance of music and voice.

Provision is also made for phonograph pick-up in both models, and the elegance of brown tapestry effectively harmonizes with the cabinet of beautiful burl walnut and maple whorl trim.

These models are all Canadian-made by Westinghouse (pioneers in radio). To miss this opportunity is a genuine loss—the price is so low.

ASSOCIATED BOARDS OF ISLAND TO MEET

Duncan Chamber of Commerce Will Press Strongly for Cowichan Lake-Alberni Road

DUNCAN, Oct. 16.—A meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island will be held in Duncan on Wednesday, October 29. Among the important matters to come before the meeting will be the question of a national park on Vancouver Island, the Tofino-Long Beach road, and the location of the West Coast highway.

The Duncan Chamber of Commerce is committed to the support of the Tofino road at the earliest possible date. They will support the formation of a national park and have an open mind as to where such park should be located.

They will press strongly for the continuation of the West Coast highway from Port Renfrew to Cowichan Lake via the Robertson River route, and building from Cowichan Lake through to Alberni. This route, they claim, has great advantages over the proposed "dead end" road to Bamfield.

Supporters of the Cowichan Lake route claim that it would cost much less to build, would open up a worthwhile country, would benefit all sections of the Island and would be free from the fogs which would be encountered on the so-called Ocean Highway. The meeting is expected to be a very interesting one.

SALT SPRING GOLF

SALT SPRING, Oct. 16.—The competition for the men's monthly medal, which took place recently on the Salt Spring Island golf course, resulted in the winner being W. M. Mount with the score of 86, handicapped 28, net score 72. Runner-up, W. P. Evans, 93; handicap, 16, net 77.

The winner of the ladies' competition for silver spoon was Mrs. T. Charlesworth, with the score of 111, handicapped 24, net score 87. Runner-up, Mrs. T. F. Speed, score 118; handicapped 28, net score 90.

SNOW UP-ISLAND

PORT ALBERNI, Oct. 16.—The first fall of snow in the district occurred this afternoon, when six inches fell in the city and district, much to the delight of the children and the annoyance of their parents. On the Alberni Summit the snowstorm reached the proportions of a blizzard, and for a time roads were blocked by trees felled by the elements.

LADYSMITH ASKS FOR ROAD TO WEST COAST

Highway Via Cowichan Lake and Nitinat River to Alberni Canal Desired by Board of Trade

LADYSMITH, Oct. 15.—A new note was sounded last night at the regular meeting of the Ladysmith Board of Trade, when the members unanimously endorsed the appointment of a committee to investigate the possibilities of locating a new highway from Ladysmith towards the West Coast.

The resolution to this effect emanated from the discussion on two motions, one from Nanaimo advocating the construction of a road to a national park area north of Alberni Canal, and the other from Cumberland regarding the Beaver Creek to Comox Lake Road.

John Bickle wanted to know if the Ladysmith Board of Trade merely functioned to approve and support highway projects from other cities, or whether proper consideration had been given to the possibilities of Ladysmith as the starting point of a new westward route.

None of the members seemed intimately acquainted with the topography of the country from an engineering standpoint, but it was felt that further inquiries should be made along this line.

TRIANGULAR TOUR
It was pointed out that such a highway, if feasible, would eventually provide an ideal triangular tour as the proposed road would touch the northern reaches of Cowichan Lake, cross the Nitinat River, and follow the general direction of the 49th parallel towards San Mateo Bay on the Alberni Canal. It is anticipated, of course, that the Jordan River highway will some day traverse the West Coast beyond the same point.

Messrs. Bryant, Johnson and Colmige were appointed a committee of investigation to report back to the board.

Following the adjournment of the regular meeting, W. W. Waikem, president, introduced C. L. Harrison and James H. Beatty, M.P.P. of Victoria. Mr. Beatty complimented the members on the spirit they had displayed in their efforts to bring better times to Ladysmith. He assured them of his help and co-operation at all times.

DELIGHTFUL TRIP
Mr. Harrison, with his equipment of slides and movie projector, took the audience on a tour of the road under construction at Jordan River to the inner channels of Barkley Sound.

Vancouver Island, Mr. Harrison claimed, did not receive its due share of highway development, considering the proportion of taxation it contributed.

He favored the creation of a national park area, embracing a section of the west coastline, preferably south of the Alberni Canal, and including the areas of Bamfield and the Nitinat Lake. Were the Island to be treated equitably with the Mainland of the province in the allocation of roads, it would be quite reasonable to assume, he said, that highway development towards this area would not be far distant.

INDIAN RESERVES
Before concluding his lecture Mr. Harrison remarked on the reversion of Indian reserves to provincial control, and advised Ladysmith to become active in the matter of the reserve around Chekamus Bay, just across the harbor. The declining aboriginal population in that district did not warrant its continuance as a reserve, and as a national park its beauty could be preserved and its attractions enhanced to the benefit of the neighborhood. A marine driveway, encircling Oyster Bay, passing by Shell Beach towards Kulbert Bay, would open a scenic prospect to the general public without equal on the shores of the inland waters.

Mr. Harrison and Mr. Beatty were thanked heartily for their remarks.

Bimonthly air service has just been established between La Paz, Bolivia and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Export of Cattle to United States Ceases

The market report of the Dominion livestock branch shows the trend of the time in the cattle market. For the week ending September 18 the movement of livestock to the United States is shown: Butcher cattle, nil; hogs, nil; sheep, nil, calves, nil (except for 231 from Toronto); store cattle, nil (except for fifty heads from Winnipeg). The movement of cattle to the Old Country is the big encouraging factor in the present situation.

PARENT-TEACHERS MEET

NANAIMO, Oct. 16.—A good attendance of Parent-Teachers met last night to hear an interesting address given by Mrs. Ada Tonkin, of Vancouver, who chose as her topic "Modern Educational Ideals." Miss Lily Piper, who has been secretary of the Nanaimo Association for the last three years, was presented by Mrs. R. T. Wilson, the president, with a token of appreciation in recognition of her efficient services.

Miss Aida Malacord, A.T.C.M., L.A.B., charmed the audience with artistic pianoforte solos.

Egg Market Review

The Egg and Poultry Market Review, issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture under date of October 14, says:

Canadian egg markets have continued to display seasonal firmness during the past week. The general trend of prices has been upward, with the more pronounced advances taking place at some Western centres, where severe weather conditions have resulted in a considerable drop in receipts. On the majority of markets storage eggs are coming into more general use, and sales of this class of eggs are approaching the normal volume for the season.

There has been some slight nervousness regarding storage eggs, but it would seem too early yet to form any definite opinion. The market over last year is not unduly heavy, and the added protection against imports which the market enjoys this year should bear considerable weight. In British Columbia production is barely equal to local needs, and with the severe weather, there has been very little surplus in the prairie provinces.

Prices on fresh eggs are still substantially below last year, although with the advance of recent weeks, a great deal of this disparity has been eliminated. There are still some markets, however, where summer prices are still prevailing. It is inevitable that prices will advance shortly on such markets, as it is almost impossible to move storage eggs into consumption so long as fresh eggs remain at the values quoted from some points.

NEW WESTMINSTER
A strong demand with light receipts advanced prices to produce to: Extras, 38 to 40; firsts, 34 to 37; pullet extras, 30 to 33.

VANCOUVER
This egg market is firm under a strong demand. Receipts are barely enough to meet consumptive requirements, even after the last price advance. With the receipts direct to retailers now practically stopped, the entire demand is falling on the wholesalers and producers, leaving no surplus for interprovincial carload shipments.

Wholesale dealers on October 11 quoted producers for ungraded eggs: Extras, 40; firsts, 36 to 37; pullet extras, 30 to 33; peewee seconds, 20 to 22. Wholesale prices of fresh eggs to retailers are: Extras, 43 to 45; firsts, 41 to 42; pullet extras, 36 to 37; peewee seconds, 23 to 24. Storage eggs are wholesaling at: Extras, 36; firsts, 33. The producers' pool is selling fresh eggs to wholesale dealers at: Extras, 42; firsts, 40; pullet extras, 37.

The live poultry market was active, with a good demand. Dealers quoted producers for live Leghorns, 11 to 14c per pound; heavy hens, 16 to 18c; heavy spring, 17 to 20c; Leghorns, over two pounds, 17c; two pounds and under, 20c.

Defence Minister Makes Inspection Of Duncan Militia

DUNCAN, Oct. 16.—The Hon. D. M. Sutherland, Minister of National Defence, and Brigadier Sutherland-Brown, officer commanding Military District No. 11, paid a visit to the local militia of the Duncan Co.-pany of the 16th Canadian Scottish. After complimenting these units upon the result of the inspection, the minister announced that Duncan was to have an armory, and that this would be his recommendation upon his return to Ottawa. He warned his hearers, however, that there might be some delay in getting an appropriation through at a time like this.

FUNERAL OF PIONEER

NANAIMO, Oct. 17.—The remains of the late Mrs. Mary P. Haarer, a pioneer of Nanaimo, who passed away on Monday, were laid at rest yesterday in the Nanaimo Cemetery, the funeral being attended by a large number of residents of Nanaimo and district, with whom the deceased was held in the highest esteem.

Rev. F. W. Anderson, pastor of the First United St. Andrew's Church, conducted services at the P. J. Jenkins' chapel, where Daniel Jones sang, "Nearer My God, to Thee" and "Lead, Kindly Light," with R. T. Covey at the organ.

The pallbearers were Senator A. E. Planta, Mayor Dr. G. A. B. Hall, H. L. Good, C. Stockwell, C. Green-shields and Dan Jones.

FOR CHRISTMAS CHEER

NANAIMO, Oct. 16.—A meeting was held last night in the committee room of the Elks Home to consider handling of Christmas cheer, when the following societies were represented: City of Nanaimo, Elks, Gyros, Salvation Army, Canadian Legion and the Elks. The following officers were elected: J. R. McKinnell, chairman; T. P. Jamieson, secretary.

It was decided to form a central committee and secure a central depot to handle donations and put up parcels.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S LEAGUE

DUNCAN, Oct. 16.—Miss G. Owens, missionary vice-president, was in charge of the programme for this week's meeting of the Young People's League at the United Church. Wallace Flett and Miss M. Burkholder assisted in the devotional exercises. A vocal solo by Miss Ella Hood was much appreciated.

The speaker for the evening was William R. Mason, of Cowichan Station, who gave an illustrated lecture on "The Sierra Nevada." The beautiful slides used were made from pictures taken by Mr. Mason, when on a trip through California. Personal experiences related to the speaker gave added interest to the lecture, which was greatly enjoyed by the forty members present.

GYROS CELEBRATE

NANAIMO, Oct. 16.—In the Hotel Malaspina last evening local Gyros turned out en masse to celebrate Founders' Day, the affair taking the form of a founders' banquet. The speaker of the evening was G. A. A. Hedden, of Victoria, who brought with him the greetings of the Victoria Gyros. He had as his topic, "Founders' Day," and in the course of his address pointed out the good work being done by service clubs, instancing the work of the Gyros in procuring children's playgrounds, and the interesting of young men in civic affairs.

A very-much-enjoyed programme was given, which included a saxophone solo by Dr. A. Hall; a duet by Dr. A. Hall, saxophone, and G. Kharston; J. Bertram, solo; recitation by Dr. Manson; and two solos by Jack Dudley. W. Jackson acted as accompanist.

Community singing of favorite Gyro songs was interspersed throughout the evening's programme.

RAILWAY MATTERS ARE DISCUSSED AT OTTAWA

Discussion was on matters relative to the system, and there was no announcement to make following the conclusion of the meeting. Sir Henry expects to return to Montreal today.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

Impy Becomes Jealous
—By THORNTON W. BURGESS—

There's truth in what we have been told.
That love will make the timid bold.
—Old Mother Nature.

Impy, the black Chipmunk, was certain there wasn't another Chipmunk in all the Great World as beautiful as little Miss Frisky. You see, Impy had fallen in love with little Miss Frisky. She was a very shy little person. She seemed to Impy to be a very timid little person. Sometimes she would run away from Impy; sometimes she would stay for a little while, but if he tried to approach closely she would run away. It got so that most of the time while he was awake Impy was thinking of little Miss Frisky.

Impy had tried to find out just where little Miss Frisky lived, but so far he had not succeeded. He knew that it was not a great distance from his own home and he knew in a general way where it was. But though he had hunted and hunted he had not found the entrance. When little Miss Frisky did not come over to see him he would go to see her; that is, he would go over near where she lived. Sometimes he saw her and sometimes he did not.

Now, it happened one morning that Impy waited in vain for little Miss Frisky to appear. Finally he started to look for her. He was almost over to the place where he thought she lived when he caught sight of a Chipmunk running along a fence rail. His first thought was that it was little Miss Frisky and he started after her as fast as he could go. But when he got a real good look at this Chipmunk a little doubt crept into his mind.

"If that is Frisky, she certainly has grown overnight," thought Impy. "Yes, sir, she certainly has grown overnight," thought Impy. "If that is Frisky, she certainly has grown overnight," thought Impy. "Yes, sir, she certainly has grown overnight," thought Impy. "If that is Frisky, she certainly has grown overnight," thought Impy. "Yes, sir, she certainly has grown overnight," thought Impy.

Just then he heard a rustle off to one side, and turning quickly he caught a glimpse of little Miss Frisky herself. There was no doubt about it. No, sir, there was no doubt about it. Impy knew that the other Chipmunk was a stranger. He was just preparing to jump down in front of little Miss Frisky when he heard a rustling of leaves again; and there was the stranger racing after little Miss Frisky as fast as he could go. He paid not the slightest attention to Impy. Impy didn't know just what to do. In the first place, he was almost too much surprised to do anything, excepting to sit and stare.

"My goodness, that stranger is bigger than I!" thought Impy. "And he's chasing Frisky. Yes, sir, he's chasing Frisky! I wonder if he knows Frisky?"

Impy started after the other two. Presently he came in sight of them. Little Miss Frisky was sitting on a big stone. The big stranger was sitting on another stone facing her. He not only was big but he was handsome. Even Impy had to admit that he was handsome. Apparently little Miss Frisky thought so too. When the stranger moved toward her she darted down between some stones. Impy could see her peeping out at the big stranger. It was quite clear that she admired him.

Right then and there jealousy filled the heart of Impy the black Chipmunk. He was jealous of that big stranger. He didn't want little Miss Frisky to admire him. He didn't want that big stranger

TINY MOTOR SHOWN
A tiny motor, about a foot square, was recently shown in Germany. Instead of the usual crankshaft, the connecting rod of the single cylinder is hooked up to the eccentric wheel, which has exceptionally large ball bearings. The motor develops one horsepower and can produce a speed of ten miles an hour.

TO TRACE STOLEN ART
The police of Scotland Yard, London, have been trying to trace the owner of a portrait in oils on an oak panel of an elderly man with a grayish beard and mustache, wearing a brownish coat trimmed with dark fur, a red garment and a flat black hat. They took the picture from two men who said that they had been given the portrait to sell.

INTERNATIONAL ART URGED
International art for the decorating of the interior of ocean liners is being advocated in Europe. It is claimed that as the vessels are international in character their decorations should be pleasing to passengers of all nations. German, French and Dutch steamship companies are taking up the idea.

Doping of race horses to increase their speed, a practice severely dealt with by the racing authorities in England, has led to the discovery that drugs will not improve the form of an honest race horse but will make an unwilling or lazy animal race more keenly.

BOX CAR SINGS OF TRAVELING ON MANY RAILS

Pities the Aristocratic Passenger Coach on Regular Run

FREIGHT CAR ROUTES ARE EVER CHANGING

"I'm grimed and I'm tired like I've never been before. I've wandered this continent fifty thousand miles or more; been in a thousand places, seen as many dirty faces. Looking up from hidden places where the happy hoboes ride. Don't you envy me my travels, where each passing mile unravels something new in vistas?"

Box car No. 246947 stood in the Canadian Pacific Railway's False Creek yards looking disdainfully across the tracks at one of the new solarium observation cars, standard club car equipment of the crack Transcanada Limited, connecting Vancouver with Toronto and Montreal. His song finished, he regarded his sleek, many-windowed yard mate with an expression of pity, tinged with contempt.

"Him!" said the red-brown and travel-stained freight car. "Him, he calls himself a traveler. Runs back and forth between here and Montreal carrying the rich people, the tourists, the commercial travelers. Runs over the same route every time. Wonder he doesn't get tired of seeing Mount Stephen at Field, the Yoho Falls and Mount Macdonald, fine and beautiful as they are, no doubt. Why doesn't he join the freight department and see the world?"

NEVER CARRIED HOBOS

"But I suppose he's happy even if he hasn't seen Chicago, Boston, New York, Cleveland, Washington, Philadelphia and Detroit, to say nothing of Youngstown, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Wheeling, Akron, Atlanta and Miami." Box car 246947 became openly scornful. His square shoulders shook with laughter as he regarded the solarium car. "Calls himself a traveler!" he chuckled, "him with all his nice upholstery and leather chairs, his colored servania and bridge games. I'll bet he's never carried a load of hoboes that sang 'Casey Jones,' 'I'm Just a Poor Cowboy' and 'Carry Me Back to Old Virginia.' He'd be horrified, he would!"

Box car 246947 spoke with the gentle criticism of the seasoned traveler. Far from the beaten track of Canadian railways he had spent the Winter, Summer and Spring of 1930 traveling extensively through the United States. Now he had come to the Coast with a load of wheat and, liking the mild Pacific climate, was hoping the transportation department would leave him in the delightful setting of False Creek with its myriad little tugs, its picturesque log booms and the smoke of activity of a hundred sawmills and manufacturing plants.

When he said "Join the freight department and see the world," he was more than paraphrasing the famous slogan of the United States naval recruiting staff; he was speaking the truth. For in the eight months between January 1, 1930, and October, box car 246947 had traveled more than 50,000 miles in twenty states and on thirty different United States railways.

BORN IN HAMILTON

Box car 246947 was born in Hamilton, Ont., in December, 1929, and went into service shortly afterwards for the Canadian Pacific Railway, which spent several thousands of good Canadian dollars on him. Built of steel and carrying sixty tons at a load, he was greeted with glee—as if he had been veritable manna from the heavens when he crossed the border last December with a cargo consigned for delivery on the Michigan Central Railway beyond Detroit. Thereafter his life became one of servitude to American interests, who could not bring themselves to part with this Canadian cargo-carrier, which was considerably newer and better than the mine-run of American cars.

From the Michigan Central the popular young box car was shunted to the Illinois Central, and shortly thereafter (January, 1930), to the Louisiana Northern, which wasn't so bad considering the attractiveness of the Southland when winter blizzards blow hard. Wintering in the South, however, proved a flash in the pan, and he was back again shortly doing odd chores for the Illinois, the Chicago Northwestern, the Belt Railroad of Chicago, and the Baltimore & Ohio, all with striking distances of those chill winds which blow off Lakes Erie and Michigan. Then followed little carrying jobs to Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroads, the All-Ohio line, the Reading Railroad, the

New York, Chicago & St. Louis, Chicago Northwestern, the Akron, Canton & Youngstown, and the Wheeling, Lake Erie Railway. Other United States railroads subsequently claiming his desirable services were the Chicago, Illinois & Midland, the Chicago & Alton, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, the Peoria, Pekin Union, Toledo, Peoria & Western, Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisiana, the Southern Railroad, the Norfolk, Portsmouth & Belt Line, the Northwestern & South Carolina, the Chesapeake & Ohio, the Cleveland, Cincinnati & St. Louis, the Rock Island, the Blue Ridge, the Central Georgia, Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis and the Tennessee, Alabama & Georgia. And all of these, he it remembered, in eight months.

IN STRANGE LANDS

He had traveled a strange land for more than fifty thousand miles. He had seen cities, towns, hamlets and countryside which never will be seen by the sleek passenger cars that travel the Canadian railroads. He had seen the blue grass of Kentucky, the roaring steel and coal towns of Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, their blast furnaces throwing gigantic red shadows over the countryside for miles around. In the shadow of the world's largest ocean liners, in a harbor jammed with shipping from all parts of the world he had viewed the mighty Manhattan skyline from a car barge in New York harbor. Black and white men, out of work, had found sanctuary between his groaning couplers as southbound trains rolled Florida-ward with the Autumn rush of jobless.

A tramp of the rails, he carried automobiles, machinery, merchandise, radios, stoves, from one part of the United States to another. But for the Canadian railway which paid money to build him he has carried only two loads. Which can be explained thus: When a Canadian car enters the United States for handling over a foreign line a home delivery label is attached. This does not mean that the car will be immediately returned, however, as the foreign line is allowed to load it and ship it onto another line, which in turn may ship it on to still another road. In this way Canadian cars are sometimes absent from their home road for as long as three years, while American cars have been known to remain on this side of the line for a correspondingly long period.

That it is not hard to see the advantage enjoyed by the freight car as against the more restricted activities of passenger cars, which, except in rare cases, are confined to the home road when it comes to a question of globe-trotting. No wonder, then, that travel-stained box car 246947 gazed contemptuously at the trim solarium car in Vancouver yards and said: "Calls himself a traveler, eh? Why he wouldn't know Chicago stockyards junction from Birmingham, Alabama."

THE SALVATION ARMY

When the Rev. William Booth "botted" from the Methodist Church in England, in 1865, and started his "Christian Mission," he little realized or envisioned the tremendous organization which would be the fruits of the first seed planted in the lawless Mile End section of London.

The Christian Mission, as the Salvation Army was called until 1878, was simply a group of earnest men and women, formed on military lines, every member of which was imbued with the spirit of evangelization. As might have been expected, its first efforts were modest. Violence, scorn, ridicule—these were the usual reactions to its initial endeavors. Gradually, however, it overcame the prejudices and other obstacles in its path of development. Prominent churchmen were won over. Its earnestness and good deeds commanded respect. Wealthy laymen encouraged it. The Great War furnished it with opportunities for service and succor which it fully took advantage of.

Today the benevolent activities of the Salvation Army are so vast that its religious inception and aspects are frequently lost sight of, but that is how it started.

WHY SHAW IS SOLVENT

George Bernard Shaw, replying to a request to contribute to the Bournemouth Little Theatre, which is to cost $100,000, declares that he made a vow early in life never to put a farthing into any form of public entertainment, especially theatrical entertainment. "Hence my present solvency," he postcards. Adds, however, that if he were to break his vow it would be for a theatre with a vast auditorium and low prices, for he asserts, "the blight theatre has been the ruin of the drama and really athletic acting."
